TD Tom Davies expands premium sunglass range

New models include chrome "rock star" sunglass style and Limited Edition model I3435, worn by Angelina Jolie in her new film, The Tourist

British luxury eyewear brand TD Tom Davies will present a new sunglass range at Vision Expo West in October, doubling the size of the existing sun collection. Adding a wide selection of elegant titanium designs for men and women to the popular acetate styles, as well as a series of new Limited Edition Sunglasses, the collection offers high-impact styling, sophisticated shapes and luxurious colour combinations, using high-quality materials and premium lenses. Graduated and mirrored lenses feature prominently.

The new line will include a unisex chrome sunglass, based on the design of a bespoke frame created for Matthew Bellamy, lead singer of Muse, for his 2010/11 World Tour. The chrome finish was originally chosen to match one of Bellamy's custom-made guitars, known as the "silver Manson". The sunglass is enhanced by mirror coated lenses and highly stylized temples.

Also to be presented is TD Tom Davies I3435, a Limited Edition sunglass, selected by Angelina Jolie for the new film, The Tourist, releasing in December. This is a 1960s oversized shape, inspired by Jackie Onassis. Also available in the TD Tom Davies Designer Collection, model I3435 comes with a polished black front, ivory temples and matt black titanium detail.
